Special thanks to the 16 people who have responded and sent their votes so far.

The Award categories are:

MOST IMPROVED PLAYER

This prize takes into account the player who is believed to have made the most significant improvement in their game over the duration of the year. Please nominate a player who you think is doing much better now than they were at the start of 2015. Votes will be tallied from all of your peers and we will also take into consideration the change in the player's handicap through the duration of the 2015 season. The player with the highest number of points from all nominations will be deemed the winner

WORST IMPROVED PLAYER

This prize takes into account the player who is believed to have made the most significant downturn in their game over the duration of the year. Please nominate a player who you think is doing much worse now than they were at the start of 2015. Votes will be tallied from all of your peers and we will also take into consideration the change in the players handicap through the 2015 season. The player with the highest number of points from all nominations will be deemed the winner

LEATHER WEDGE

Each year the Leather Wedge award is given to the player who is best able to manipulate the rules of golf to help to improve their scorecard.

Actions such as kicking the ball out of the bushes with your foot when nobody looking. Not counting a short missed putt because you were only mucking around. Dropping another ball where yours was lost without taking the relevant penalties and creative accounting (just not counting all of your shots.) These are just some of the many different ways that someone can earn a nomination for the title of Leather Wedge winner. The leather wedge prize will be determined by an anonymous ballot. The player with the highest number of points from all nominations will be deemed the winner

ANGRY MAN AWARD

This category, was introduced to acknowledge some of the memorable dummy spits on the course during the year. Players may nominate a player for an individual temper tantrum and give a brief explanation of the events leading up to and preceding the dummy spit or otherwise nominate a single individual who they believe has the shortest fuse and worst temper on the fairways without needing to nominate a single event. The player with the highest number of points from all nominations will be deemed the winner

Kingston Links Golf Course Results

November

Kingston Links has seen an end to the mathematical possibility for many of the contenders for the point's championship leaderboard. At the conclusion of the Yarrambat round there was a handful of players still within reach of the top. After some brilliant golf now the title is left to be played off between only two Players. Dale is in a commanding position and will only need to finish in 14th spot or better to claim the title for 2015, and the only real rival competitor is Ron Parsons who will need to win the Saturday round at Rich river to have a chance of winning the season points trophy.

As he is now 15 points behind Dale, it seems that Mick Harper will need to drink Dale under the table on Friday night and then find a way to prevent him from making it on to the tee and therefore collecting the participation point that would keep Mick out of contention or else Mick might finish up in the bridesmaids dress in second position yet again.

Mick was in brilliant form on Sunday, he shot even par 36 on the front nine including 2 birdies and he was on track for a Sunday Leave Pass Personal Best until the curse of the Super-coach finally got the better of him and he hit a Newell (10) on the 17th hole which meant he was only able to finish the day with 81 off the stick.

Mick nearly holed out for an ace on the third hole, won the longest drive on the ninth hole to set up an eagle putt and he also got the a NTP prize on the 7th hole. Micks round was completed with a smorgasbord of power hitting, accurate stroke play and some competent putting and chipping. So good was his golf that it stimulated a man crush by Newell which needed to be censored in order to comply with our websites Adults only rating.

Newell's admiration for Mick was so indulgent and over the top that at one stage Greg Parsons needed to offer Highway a cold spoon. According to Greg, after one particular shot, Newell got so worked up about it, he thought that if Newell had of been any more excited then he would have needed a tissue and an apology. Between Micks pro quality golf and the Drummond catalogue in his back pocket which has his next set of golf clubs up for sale, Highway was in a utopian state. After 2x separate club fitting sessions in the last week, one thing is for sure, Newell has had plenty of practice of trying to swing a club. But with his current man crush and so long as he is thinking about the way Mick tenses his butt cheeks as he hits the ball, the fittings advice will be of no benefit as he will be playing his rounds with a stiff shaft when the advice from the golf pro is for him to go into is golf with a flex or regular shaft at best.

Highway was inspired by the opportunity to watch Mick tense is butt cheeks. Newell himself shot 49 on the back nine and beat his last round at Kingston links by more than 50 shots including an 11 stroke improvement on the 138 meter par 3 Seventh hole where in 2014 he hit a seventeen (17). Having said that, in hindsight it wouldn't be too hard to improve on a 17 especially when you think that based on the numbers it would take on average hitting the ball with a putter 8.11 meters per shot and you could still be on the green for 16.

Ron Parsons probably should have taken the putter on the 18th hole. Once again Ron was in blistering form and as he stood on the tee on the last hole he was on track for yet another top 3 finish. Unfortunately 2 balls into the lake was not the desired outcome and a score of nine saw him tumbling down the place order rankings.

After two round s in two months Jamie Brunton has ironed out the kinks in his golf swing and was able to replicate some of the old form that once made him one of the strongest competitors in the Sunday Leave Pass Group. After a disappointing last place finish at Yarrambat Jamie posted very credible score of 96 Nett 70 to finish in 3rd place.

Jamie arrived at the first tee complaining how cold the weather conditions were especially since he had forgotten to pack himself a jumper. Jamie still wasn't too pleased when he was offered the pink beer wench vest to keep him warm. By the third hole Jamie was also wearing the three putt monkey vest as well and he was suddenly whining about how hot he suddenly was.

Burnsie was another Sunday Leave Pass veteran who made a rare visit this month. Burnsie was once our number one ticket holder and played every month religiously but lately his golf has suffered at the hands of work commitments. In his comeback game Burnsie played some exciting golf. He scored a fist full of pars and bogies however his most memorable shot was one that did little to improve his score. On the first hole Burnsie hit his tee shot straight into the ladies marker in front of him, the ball was hit with such force that it deflected straight up into the air for 30 meters before falling back to earth just on the positive side of the squatters tees. Unfortunately the tee marker was damaged beyond repair and it became yet another victim of the David Burns golfing casualties.

Burnsie is famous for the carnage he has caused on the golf course over the years, he has maimed Kangaroo's, destroyed golf carts, rendered greens unplayable, dented car bonnets but his most infamous incident was when he near on killed a fellow players golf caddie. For those that have never heard of the incident we have supplied the tale in the link below.

Burnsie also rendered the suburbs of Rowville, Lysterfied and Waverly out of power on Sunday when he hit two balls in a row into the Power line towers.

Burnsie wasn't the only person to have an impact on the day. Stu Coops hit a snap hook on the 17th hole which crashed into the roof of an adjoining house. The homeowner was actually outside working in his gardens at the time and the poor buggler near on had a heart attack and in light of recent incidents overseas he thought he was under attack and fainted as his roof tiles exploded above him. To make matters worse, he soon became convinced that he was at the center of the next world war when just as he returned back into consciousness 10 minutes later another two projectiles sailed over his fence line and into his house as Mick Harper played the first two shots of his 10 (Newell) on the 17th hole. With Big Mick landing bombs from 300 meters out it was little wonder the poor old buggler was later seen curled up in the corner of his garden sitting in a pile of his own excrement on the phone to the local realtor to advise him that he had decided to put his house up for sale.

With all the dangers and challenges around the course Stu Coops bunkered himself down for the day. Stu had three shots in the bunker on the first hole, four shots from the sand on the third hole and added extra shots onto the scorecard on numerous other occasions after burying his ball in the bunker. The irony was that Stu had openly told his playing partners how confident he was in the sand and told them how he'd rather be playing a shot from in the trap than around the fringe of the green. All we can say is he must be really, really, really, really crap chipper.

Stu also got buried in the dam on the 8th hole and ended up down to his knees in quick sand after his drive finished in the water. Stu fell victim to the Peter Hutson mind games and accepted Pete's GPS reading that the lake at the front to the green was not reachable from the tee. Stu launched into a drive that not only achieved the so-called impossible and made it to the lake but it actually flew over the lake onto the other side then rolled back down the bank finishing semi submerged in the shallows.

Never one to back down from a challenge, Stu actually took off his shoes and socks and jumped down into the lake as he tried to play his ball out of the water rather than take an unplayable lie penalty. As he sank further into the water Stu pulled out another six or seven golf balls. The plan was good in theory but not in practice, Stu ended up hitting his ball deeper into the mud, covered himself from head to toe in duck S#!7 and had to take a penalty drop after all.

At least Stu actually managed to hit the ball which is more we can say for the Supercoach who had an air-swing on the first tee. The pressure of being partnered with Big Mick was all too much for Fil and he choked and missed the ball by four inches. As to be expected the 2008 and 2009 Leather Wedge title holder quickly claimed it was a practice swing and spent the next 18 holes for the first time in his golfing career having deliberate practice swings before each and every shot just too cover up his initial lie.

Supercoach wasn't the only person to have an airy, the fine jar was topped up by Newell, Col and Phil who all had a play and miss at some stage in their round. Shot of the day went to Ronnie Parsons who holed out his chip from 60 meters on the second hole for a par. Phil Plane also managed to have a nonner on the tenth hole.

For a difficult course with so many hazards the quality of scoring was very commendable, the course gave up a swag of 9 birdies 84 pars and a few eagle opportunities including Peter Hutson nearly chipping in on the Par 5 ninth hole. Congratulations to Dale Robinson who has taken a leaf out of the book from the Newell Richards University and has started having a practice round during the week leading up to the game. Dale struck the ball beautifully and was still one under the card after five holes before a slight lapse of concentration saw him go triple bogie, triple bogie. Dale was able to refocus and completed us round with a pair of 42's (84) Nett 66 to win the day and extend his lead on the Sunday Leave Pass Points Leadership tally. Peter Hutson played an inspired round of golf going toe to toe with Dale all of the way to the last hole. Pete who interestingly also had a practice round with Dale on Thursday finished the day in second place hitting 88 off the stick.

Brunto improved his ranking by 19 places from last month finishing in third place after producing a great display of strong driving and accurate iron play. If Jamie ever learns how to putt he will be a very strong force. Jamie was in the yellow vest almost as often as he was the pink vest, but we are not sure whether he was doing it deliberately because he was cold or he just doesn't know how to putt.

They say Practice Makes Perfect, and so it must be, since all of the extra practice swings worked in the favor of the Supercoach. Although his group ended up finishing 30 minutes behind the rest of the field because all of the extra swings, Fil played his best round in 3 years and he posted a legitimate score of 91 to secure his 4th place finish and he also won NTP on the 18th with a very solid shot.

A score of 81 including a 10 on the 17th hole shows just how well Mick Harper was playing on Sunday. Despite the distractions of the incessant chatter and advice from the Supercoach and also the pools of drool and other bodily fluids being expelled as a result of Newell's man crush, Mick posted a brilliant round which featured 11 pars and 2 birdies. It perhaps should be noted that Mick was the extra wheel in Dales practice round, so if you are hoping to finish inside the top 5 next month perhaps try to land yourself an invitation to one of Dales practice sessions.

REMINDER HOW 3 PUTT MONKEY GAME WORKS

|---|---|
|  | *As part of the putting competition this year, as a brainchild suggestion from Paul Blizzard we have introduced the Three Putt Monkey game. At the start of each round every group will be given a flouro yellow 3 Putt Monkey vest and whenever a person has a 3 putt or worse that player must put on the 3 Putt Monkey Vest and wear it until another player in the group has a 3 putt or more. The player wearing the 3 putt Monkey vest at the completion of the 18th hole will be required to chip in an additional $2 into the fine jar. If multiple players have a 3 putt or worse the player who was last into the hole wins the vest irrespective of whether the other player before them had a 3 putt, four putt or even a seven putt. The furthest player from the hole should always putt first on the green and that player is deemed as in control and therefore has the option of marking their ball if they miss the putt or putting out. If they chose to putt out and then the following person three putts then the last person to putt out gets the vest. |

Evergreen Winery Tours

Yarra Ranges Wine Regions

Sponsored by

For those who were not aware of the "hole in one prize", any player who scores a hole in one or an Albatross during a Sunday Leave Pass event will win a complimentary Chauffeur Driven Winery Tour for 2x people through the Yarra Valley, courtesy of Evergreen Winery Tours. So start aiming at the hole we want to give it away this year there was a few close calls over the years but we are still yet to achieve the perfect shot despite more than 12000 attempts since 2004.

(In 1999, Golf Digest reported, "One insurance company puts a PGA Tour pro's chances at 1 in 3,756 and an amateur's at 1 in 12,750.")
The Golf Digest study even breaking the odds down by quality of play:

- Professional Tour player making an ace: 3,000 to 1
- Low-handicapper making an ace: 5,000 to 1
- Average player making an ace: 12,000 to 1

Based on this information we are due any time so make sure you turn up to play as it may just be you that claims the ultimate prize.
