

Awful course against some excellent results last Sunday. If Ringwood is like that again – I suspect no-one would ever play there again.

I am sure Stu will sort out all the other details (re: handicaps, points tally etc), but here are the actual results anyway:

Hole	Total	H/Cap	Net Score	Rank	Points
	70
Alister Bayer	76	13	63	1	10
Jeremy Cliff	92	27	65	2	9
Warren Stewart	80	14	66	3	8
Rick McEvoy	82	15	67	4	7
Mark Sfiligoj	85	17	68	5	6
Steve Powne	96	28	68	6	5
Matt MacIssac	97	28	69	7	4
Jarrett Drake	89	18	71	8	3
Chris Sfiligoj	99	28	71	9	2
Adam Cooper	97	24	73	10	1
Gerard MacIssac	89	14	75	11	1
Greg Breasley	106	31	75	12	1
Luke Dumbrell	106	30	76	13	1
Tony MacIssac	107	31	76	14	1
Greg Parsons	102	23	79	15	1
Dale Robinson	105	23	82	16	1
Ron Parsons	111	27	84	17	1
Jamie Brunton	111	25	86	18	1
Mark Fitzpatrick	104	17	87	19	1
Runar Steinecker	122	35	87	20	1
Stuart Cooper	106	16	90	21	1
Phil Pane	129	33	96	22	1

Alistair – who the f^&% invited this guy to play anyway. 4 wins from his last 5 starts – a very good effort. Let’s hope the handicapper does his job and makes life a little harder for the young man going forward. Solid performance from Jeremy – but lets be honest only one person wanted him to win – with everyone else in the field except for Jeremy – happy to see Alistair the winner with little to no boasting. I finished a respectable 18th – brought down by some average golfers in my group – in fact they did their job so well – all bar one finished better than me.

Special mention to Dale, Stu and Phil who played in the dark with torches and glowing golf balls for the first nine holes and played their 18 that fast that running shorts may have been better attire.

Also, congratulation to Adam who is alleged to have got engaged very recently – nice work. Now for the kids, no sleep and minimal bedroom activity. Good luck mate.

A couple of spots have become available on the golf trip for anyone interested. Just let Stu or me know.

Jamie.

Just a quick note to say thanks to Jamie for sorting out the results and looking after everything while I was sunning myself in Noosa. Good work. Cheers although he much could have just said dito from last month cos not much changed except for the venue. We havent seen this sort of domination by a player since Daniel DeMarinis in 2006 and Rick in 2007, but I think Alister has taken it to the next level. It's no wonder Burnsie cant show his face around the club any more. Introducing a bushranger.

The website has been updated with the new handicaps you can check the significant changes by logging into the Sunday Leave Pass Website. Current Handicaps and skins winners were as follows (got to laugh at Alister 6 over par 12 pars and 2 birdies and didnt win a skin. Bad luck clobber.)

NTP and long drives will be up dated later. I just need to get the results from Brunto

Cheers STu

PS it was good to see that you all beat Phil and I and most of you got over Dale. Had you not being able to beat blokes that played in pitch darkness, and not teeing up then you would have real issues.
