Players Choice Awards 2014

Don't forget to put some thought into your votes for the player's choice awards. Over the next few days everyone will be receiving an email with a link to the voting nomination form through the SURV's website, all you will then need to do is to fill it in and send it back to us with your nominations.

You will be asked to allocate votes to 3x players who you believe are the most eligible candidates for each of the player's choice categories. You should give 1st choice to your most preferred candidate then you must also allocate a 2nd and 3rd choice to the 2x other people who you think are also vote worthy. You have until the end of the Marysville round to submit your votes but please get your votes in as early as possible. Once you have submitted your votes through the website you cannot change them.

If you have any trouble with the voting survey links once you receive them please drop me a line.

We require 3x nominations from you for each of the following categories

- * ANGRY MAN award
- * LEAST IMPROVED player
- * MOST IMPROVED player
- * LEATHER WEDGE award

MOST IMPROVED PLAYER

This prize takes into account the player who is believed to have made the most significant improvement in their game over the duration of the year.

WORST IMPROVED PLAYER

This prize takes into account the player who is believed to have made the most significant downturn in their game over the duration of the year.

LEATHER WEDGE

The player who is best able to manipulate the rules of golf to help to improve their scorecard.

Actions such as kicking the ball out of the bushes with your foot when nobody looking. Not counting a short missed putt because you were only mucking around. Dropping another ball where yours was lost without taking the relevant penalties and creative accounting (just not counting all of your shots.)

ANGRY MAN AWARD

This category, was introduced to acknowledge some of the memorable dummy spits on the course during the year. Players may nominate a player for an individual temper tantrum thrown on the golf course or otherwise nominate a single individual who they believe has the shortest fuse and worst temper on the fairways without needing to nominate a single event.

Ringwood Golf Course Results

October

Wow PETER HUTSON played well this month. Evidently he has been having intimate communications and has been inspired by the spectacular victory achieved by the winner of Morack last month and PETER did everything within his powers to replicate a similar feat at Ringwood as his quest to get his name up in lights as the monthly winner gets more frantic.

Unfortunately for PETER HUTSON we will not be elevating his name to the top of the monthly rankings for October however the name PETER HUTSON did feature in the top 5.

Ahead of PETER HUTSON was a collection of 3x very good golfers who scored even better than PETER. Glen Douglas played his first handicap round with the social club and he did well enough to keep his nose in front of PETE. Mick Harper found some of his old form from yesteryear and Geoff Cooper shot 98 off the stick. Geoff's Nett Score of 65 was good enough to beat the entire field including PETER HUTSON and it gave him his second monthly title for the year. PETER HUTSON didn't score as well as Geoff and therefore may be disappointed to see that his name "PETER HUTSON" will not feature in this month's results blurb as the winner especially when Geoff received his five minutes of fame when he won at Warburton back in February.

There was much discussion about Geoff's performance and Brendan was amazed when he thought that Geoff had actually achieved the miraculous feat of shooting his age. We did have to take Brendan quietly aside to let him know that although he may look and act like it Geoff is actually not yet 98 years old and he still needs to score in the 70's to come close to shooting his age.

PETER HUTSON isn't 98 yet either. But he did buy a jeep, and he also bought a baby jeep.

"Not Quite So Big Mick" played the best round for the day. He ripped the Ringwood layout apart shooting a faultless 76 off the stick which was 12 shots better than PETER HUTSON's round of 88. After a series of poor performances during the last few months Mick was kicked out of the illustrious single figure handicapper category last month. Also after having lost his mantle as the club's big hitter Mick was determined to reinstate some respect from his peers who have been looking for inspiration from other talented golfers in the group, such as Brett Meyer, Glen Douglas, Shane Cumming, Gerard & SOS. In fact even PETER HUTSON has become a mentor to those looking for tips on how to improve your golf whereas 12 months ago the first and only port of call was always Mick Harper.

Having recently lost the longest Drive competitions to Glen Douglas, Brett Meyer, Dale Robinson and Trevor Adair, "Little Mick" invested in a new Driver in an attempt to rekindle some respect from the playing group. The $800 purchase of the latest model high tech golf driver was not looking like a very sound investment especially when on the first hole of the day "Still Not Quite So Big Mick" was out driven by a distance of 79.26 meters by Tony Grasso senior. Even PETER HUTSONS first shot was straighter and longer than the drive produced from "Wanna Be Big Mick" and his "Dual Point FastBack with 'precise alignment, optimal face flex-point, high centre of gravity, enhanced energy transfer and increased ball velocity" driver.

As the day went on Mick was able to gain control of his new driver and by the time he stood on the tee on the 14th hole with a 40 knot wind blowing over his shoulders he was able to muscle out a straight drive which rolled past Brendan Seagraves longest drive marker and he was then later relieved to hear than Glenn Douglas and Trevor had missed the fairway and Brett Meyer hadn't turned up so the new golf club had earned him a longest drive title again.

PETER HUTSON didn't win longest drive on the 14th hole but he did hole a long one putt on the green to make a bogie.

Mick Harper also excelled with the putter, he completed the 18 holes having only used the flat stick 27 times. With form like that it was little wonder that he finished in second place only 1 shot behind Geoff Cooper and 3 shots in ahead of PETER HUTSON with the day's low gross score of 76 and Nett 66.

On the other hand the 2011, 2012 and 2013 Sunday Leave Pass Putting champion had a horror day with the flat stick. Gerard MacIsaac had his career worst round with the putter. Over the last 98 rounds of golf Gerard has averaged just 32.32 putts per round, however at Ringwood he racked up a Trevor Adair like putting performance. The flat stick contributed to his score a total 43 times. That's correct it wasn't a typo, Gerard had 43 putts for the day with his worst hole being a disastrous 5x putt on the 17th green. Admittedly Gerard may have a valid excuse given that he was suffering from extreme Jetlag having come straight from China to the Ringwood Golf Course.

Gerard needs to be congratulated for his commitment to the social group. While others continue to make regular poxy excuses why they can't make the time to join us for a round of golf, Gerard showed the true power of conviction to his Sunday Leave Pass. Gerard has been on holidays in China for the last two weeks, yet he still made the effort to join us for the Ringwood round. After a nine and a half hour flight back from China Gerard literally jumped off the plane and drove straight to the golf course without for a second considering going home to see his beloved wife and adoring children who hadn't seen or spoken to in weeks.

On Sunday morning Gerard called to say that he was going to be a little late because he had been caught up in customs. Apparently the border patrol had a little concern about his golf shoes that were still warm and were completely covered in fresh cut grass from one of the 10 different golf courses that he had been playing on at the Mission Hills Golf precinct.

It was a tough day for Gerard and he almost claimed the beer wench title for the first time ever, perhaps it was the jetlag or maybe his poor performance was linked to the fact that for the first time in weeks he was forced to play around without his caddie. Evidently the customs patrol had stopped him at the arrivals desk because as well as the fresh cut grass on his shoes they were also a little concerned that the beautiful, 5 foot 1 inch, oriental national who was accompanying Gerard out of the airport was not actually his golf caddie but was more likely to be a mail order bride that he was trying to sneak into the country. Not even the Champion of Champions jacket or his impressive list of career highlights successes was enough to convince them that Gerard was a golfer worthy of having a caddie and he was therefore forced to leave her at the airport where she waited to be deported back to China.

PETER HUTSON doesn't have a caddie either and he has never worn the Champion of Champions jacket, nor does he have an impressive list of career highlights successes, but he does have his baby jeep remote control golf buggy that he drives all around the golf course and similarly to Gerard's caddie the partnership between player and caddie is purely physical and there is often a communication barrier between the baby jeep and PETER. On the seventh hole PETER got a little excited after shooting a par and lost control of his remote control and he smashed his Baby Jeep into the fence railings beside the tee. "Whoops I was pressing the wrong buttons" was his reply when the jeep became bogged and ended up grounded on the retaining fence with its wheels spinning in the air.

Brendan Seagrave was hoping to get a different type of wheels spinning in the air. Brendan is thriving in his new found bachelor lifestyle as a singleton. He is currently featured on RSVP and several other dating sites as the catch of the day. When he arrived at Ringwood on Sunday morning he did so with a spring in his step and he carried with him the distinct aroma of perfume, sweat and the unmistakable musky smell of human interaction. When asked where he had been Brendan replied, let's just say, "I already played a couple of holes last night and this morning, scored with Annette69 and I am now ready to play golf."

Despite his Saturday night escapade incredibly Brendan had also lined up a couple of other different ladies to play around with on Sunday after the golf. He had actually cancelled on one of them whom he had accidentally scheduled in for the morning not realizing it was a golf weekend but had told her to be available because he might be able to squeeze her in the end, depending on what time he finished drinking beers in the car park.

PETER HUTSON also had a Nett 69 but that was actually a golf score not the dating site profile username.

SOS nearly ended up with his legs in the air when he was almost decapitated by a low flying ball struck by a 3 wood on the 13th hole. SOS was some 20 -30 meters in front of the player who won at Morack last month when he was forewarned to watch out. The September victor called out to El Presidente “be careful I am hitting it straight at you.” Needless to say the ball came out low and hard and crashed flush into the handle of SOS’s golf bag. Luckily the ball missed SOS and there was not too much damage to the golf buggy and the carry over champion was still able to get away with a score of bogie after the ball ricocheted 60 meters back onto the fairway where he was then able to caress the ball on to the green and make a long one putt for a six, like any good champion does.

Stu Coops was no champion this month, he returned to his old wayward form and was seen crossing from one fairway to the next as he hooked and sliced his way around the Ringwood layout. On the Par 5 thirteenth hole he gave up on the driver and geared back to the more reliable 3 wood. When asked why, he advised his partners that he was being conservative because if he hit driver he was just as likely to hook the ball over the 70 meter high safety fence and end up on east link. As you can imagine when it comes to Stu having a bad day anything can happen and despite hitting the three wood, the ball still managed to hook and it climbed steadily into the strong head wind. It got higher and wider and much to the surprise of the engineers and strategic safety planning committee for East Link, the ball did what they had deemed to be impossible, it hit the very top of the of the safety fence rolled up and over the fence and came to rest outside the golf course boundary on East Link.

PETER HUTSON never even looked like losing a golf ball.

Speaking of accomplishing the impossible, there has been much debate on whether or not there had actually been a miscalculation with the scoring program last month. It seems there were quite a few members who found it incomprehensible to think that the name Newell Richards could possibly have featured in the top 10 leader board. For all of those doubters Highway has done it again in October, the hundreds of hours Newell has invested into his golf swing is starting to pay off and he will be able to go and see his salary commissioned golf coach to tell him that he has hit another PB round and finished in the top 10 for the second month in succession. Newell had a brilliant round and were it not for a 12 on the 13th hole he might just well have knocked PETER HUTSON out of fourth place.

It was a valiant effort from Highway to make it to Ringwood at all. He had made the call early that he was violently ill and suffering from the early symptoms of the gastro virus that had seen his entire family up all night with the trots and liquid burps. Even before hit played his first stroke for the day, Highway was convinced that he would not be finishing the entire 18 holes. Incredibly, not only did he finish his round but he did so in a record score. Newell hit a very respectable score of 110 including a par and 6 bogies. For a guy playing off a 37 handicap, that is a pretty awesome array of 3 point and 4 point scores. It’s little wonder he won a fist full of skins and featured at the top end of the leader board. With only a solitary double figure hole (a Newell) a 12 on the thirteenth hole and noting that Colin Ewart actually had back to back Newell’s with scores of 11 and 12 on the 4th and 5th holes we may soon be changing the description by definition from “Newells” to “Colins”

During discussions on the legitimacy of Newell’s sudden dramatic score improvement and whether he should be nominated as a candidate for the “most improved player” or whether he is portraying characteristics suited to be the best candidate for the “2014 Leather Wedge”, “(Nearly) Big Mick” explained the secret to Highways, Ringwood success was easily as one simple sentence “It is hard to over swing when your arse cheeks are clenched together.” So, according to Mr Harper evidently the bout of gastro may have actually helped rather than hindered his performance and if it is proven to be the case don’t be surprised if suddenly a box of laxettes become the morning ritual and flavour of the day for Sunday mornings before golf.

PETER HUTSON would not need to worry about the laxettes because for some unknown reason he has had a severe case of the sh!ts ever since he walked off the last green and Morack. He even hijacked the longest drive marker last month and only returned on Sunday morning with his name already written on the marker. He seems to have some strange paranoia or fixation with seeing his name up in lights so all we can do is humour him and smile and hope that one day we get the opportunity to publish a PETER HUTSON success in the blurb.

Congratulations to Geoff Cooper who was a deserved winner this month, he played a consistent round and although his aging body and mind (he isn’t 98 yet Brendan) faded in the closing holes he still managed to play a sub 100 round of golf. Mick Harper has found his Mojo again and his course busting round elevated him back up the leaderboard as he collected 14 championship points for finishing in second place. The newcomer Glen Douglas went toe for toe with El Presidente and he showed signs that he is a far better golfer than his starting handicap of 19 would lead you to believe. We may have nearly forgotten to mention that PETER HUTSON finished in 4th place with his flawless round of 88 of the stick. Michael Collins was another of the new handicapper bushrangers who has obviously been trained at the Supercoaches school of handicap manipulation and tanking. Off a 21 handicap Michael will be a contender for a few titles over the next few months until we can get him to a more skill level appropriate handicap.

The 2014 points championship is right up for grabs again, a solid finish from PETER HUTSON and a disastrous round from the competition leader it has brought the gap between 1st and 2nd place back to just 3 points. With 30 points left for the taking over the next 2 months even SOS and Mick Harper still have a chance it moving to the top of the leaderboard. Although according to Peter he already has a firm grip on the trophy and he has no intention of letting it slip through his fingers now that he has the chance.

This year we also have been lucky enough to have Peter Hutsons' company jump on to the Sunday Leave Pass band wagon. We thank "Wood Tech" from the bottom of our hearts as they have generously sponsored the club for the cost of our golf balls. This of course is on the condition that we promise to spread their branding across the state, which shouldn't be hard as we regularly lose golf balls around all 4 corners of the Melbourne urban district.

Our new golf balls carry both the SLP and the Wood Tech logo and we have 96 dozen of them to lose. They are damn good balls. Stu Coops actually played 18 holes with the one ball so if that is the case we might find we have enough balls to keep us going for the next 5-10 years.

Special Thanks to Dale Robinson who is the longest serving sponsor for the Sunday Leave Pass Social Club. Dale runs a printing business and is offering a high quality printing service. He will gladly do a good deal for any Sunday Leave Pass members wanting to order business cards, fliers or any other printed material. To find out more information about what he can do for you he can be contacted on 0438147788.

Remember that any printing job ordered through DNR print via the social club, Dale will donate 5% of the proceeds directly back to social club which offers us the opportunity to provide better prizes for everyone and it is good to keep your business opportunities within the network if it is possible. Wood Tech, my previous company Hudson Bond and even the Super-coach (believe it or not) have actually used Dale's business and everyone that had done so speaks very highly of the service and work that he produces.

Evergreen Winery Tours

Sponsored by Yarra Ranges Wine Regions

For those who were not aware of the "hole in one prize", any player who scores a hole in one or an Albatross during a Sunday Leave Pass event will win a complimentary Chauffer Driven Winery Tour for 2x people through the Yarra Valley, courtesy of Evergreen Winery Tours. So start aiming at the hole we want to give it away this year there was a few close calls over the years but we are still yet to achieve the perfect shot despite more than 12000 attempts since 2004.
