

SUNDAY LEAVE PASS 2022

Before we get into the final results for the 2022 Sunday Leave Pass season and the end of year golf trip. Please make sure you let us know as early as possible if you will continue playing with the Sunday Leave Pass social club in the new year and even better confirm your status so we know if you are likely to be a definite starter in January. The club has reached our capacity number of members so please don't do any recruiting over the Summer, there is a strong demand for tee times and we are expecting bigger attendances within our group membership each month and we have only booked for a limited number of spaces each month. Until we get a feel for how many current player's will have taken up a regular spot we will keep our new memberships intake on hold. Please don't recruit any extra new players, as it sounds as though the numbers will be up next year anyway.

A copy of the fixture has been posted on the Sunday Leave Pass Website. Current Season 2023 – Sunday Leave Pass and it has also been included at the end of the golf trip results blurb. You are now able to download the entire fixture onto your mobile phone calendar.

If you haven't already done so, can you please let us know if you are expecting to play next year, we have booked for a maximum of 36 players, but we need a more accurate guide on who we should expect to play regularly in 2023? If we don't hear or receive a response from you, in order to clean up the current data base we will remove your details from the distribution list unless you specifically request otherwise.

Shepparton Golf Club Golf Trip Results

GOLF TRIP 2022

Photography by Barry Hemsley.

For some of us the golf trip actually started at 500am on Wednesday morning when the Newell mobile pulled out of Faulkner Street to start the 3 day, 696km journey to Shepparton, via 5 other golf courses. The first tee time was booked for 730am at Mansfield and then from there it was a practice round at Yarrawonga, Cobram Barooga, a return visit to Barham, then a quick stopover at Hill Tops golf course at Tatura to join Greg and Ronnie Parsons for a quick warm up round, before meeting up with the rest of the gang at Shepparton.

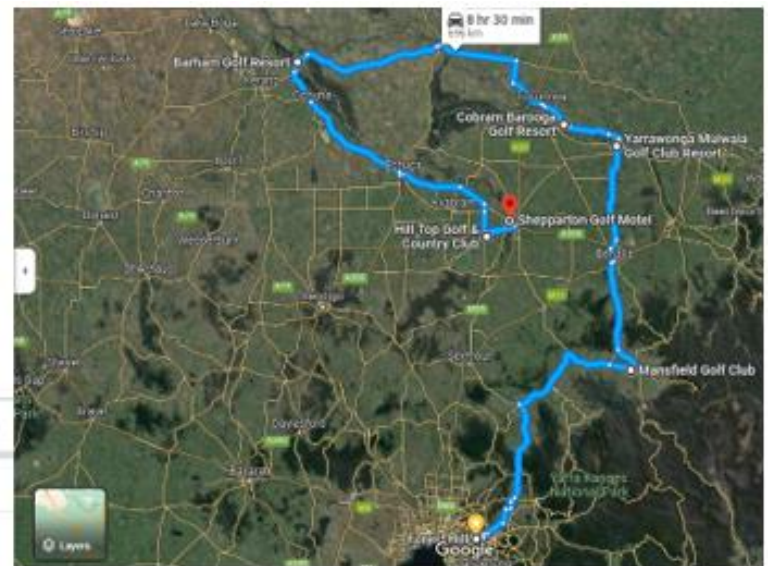

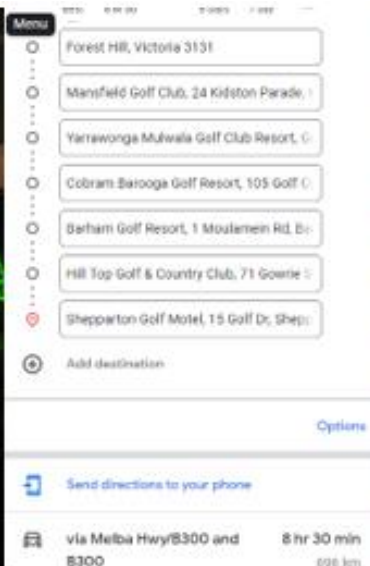

Anyone would have thought having so much extra practice that it would have to have made Barry, Wayne, Newell, Stu and Thomas primed and ready for the most important game of the season. Evidently it wasn't the case because only one of the five adventurers featured in the points distribution on Saturday afternoon. Thomas wasted all of his good shots on Friday afternoon. His practice round delivered an incredible score. On his first walk around the Shepparton course, Thomas shot 85 off the stick including a Newell, however on the Saturday when it counted, his score was not quite as good, infact his competition score was 25 strokes worse.

Barry Hemsley was the only of the splitters who was able to carry his form into the Sunday Leave Pass competition. Barry even holed an 8 foot putt for a birdie on the Par 5 first hole. For the mathematicians in the group you would be able to work out, that this means Bazza actually managed to hit a par 5 green in regulation. December was Barry's last chance to achieve his goal of scoring a Sunday Leave Pass birdie in 2022 and the fact that he did it on a par 5 hole was all the more of a reward because his GIR tally on par 5 holes was once again sitting on zero. Barry had not made a birdie with SLP since 2018 so it was a very exciting time for Santa, he thought all of his Christmas' had come at once.

If a picture sums up the 2022 golf trip it is this one. 3 days listening to your brother whinging is all too much to handle.

Chris was totally exhausted. But took one for the team. Thanks Pal

The Friday night of the golf trip is always a big event, it is the chance to cut loose after a big week and let your hair down, it's party time. BOG this year went to Clarkey who was clearly relishing the opportunity to get out of the house and away from the family. After sinking his own supply and quota of booze for the weekend, and then anything else that the Douggo family put it front of him, Clarkey was in a world of his own. Whether it was the bottle of Double Black Label Johnny Walker or the special roly papers the Douggos live on, it certainly made a mess of Andrew. In the morning there was a beer, red wine, whisky cocktail, with mushroom, corn and carrot garnish, all over the motel sign, which extended out to the downstairs footpath and all over the bonnet of someones otherwise perfectly washed white car.

It was no wonder Andrew failed to deliver his normal golf trip form, not only did he come equal last with a gross score of Nett 91, but he was still so hung over on Sunday that he was unable to carry his partner to defend their third title as Beer and Berrocca champions. Fortunately for Clarkey or maybe it was fortunate for us, that Andrew had a better back nine than Tony MacIsaac, because he was only 1 stableford point out from having to adorn the pink dress and perform the Beer Wenching duties on Saturday night. And to be honest I reckon Tony Mac was always going to be a better looking and more entertaining Beer wench than Clarkey was ever going to be.

Tony Mac did a fantastic job as the Beer Wench, he was dressed and ready for duty by 430pm. Tony served his drinks with a smile and he even managed to find a bit of spare time to dance with the locals who were celebrating their end of year Christmas party. Originally the girls asked Westy to come and join them for a dance, but when he declined and after they scanned the room they decided the only other worthy masculine suitor or partner was Tony MacIsaac in a dress.

The only time Tony fell out of character from playing the Beer wench was when he was going to the bathroom. He could not quite master the concept of sitting down to go for a pee.

Seasons Championship winners.

By the time Tony Mac had completed his mandatory drink service duties, Big Mick was ready to get into the action. As soon as Tony disrobed and took off the blond wig and dress, it was hijacked by the big fella. Mick it seems, has a secret fetish for getting into a womans dress, perhaps this is why Mick has finished in the bridesmaids position so many times. If anything he seemed a little disappointed when the winners were announced and he found out he had actually finished in first place. This is probably why he did a stint as Beer Wench.

By the time the last drinks were called on Saturday night, as a group, Sunday Leave Pass had made a valuable contribution to the Shepparton community economy. We had made a big dint in the fine jar kitty balance and hopefully in doing so, everyone had their fare share of drinks.

Most of the old fellas were quite content to sit back and enjoy a good quality beer, luckily for us, Shepparton Golf club is one of the few remaining golf operations that still offer Carlton Draught instead of all of those crappy CRAFT beers. The geriatrics and grand fathers of the group were more than happy to be able to enjoy a few bottles of red wine with their dinner.

The younger boys in the club had managed to drink the bar dry of Canadian Club cans, then an hour later they had wiped out all of the bottles of CC they had left stowed on the liquor shelf. Clearly the locals don't have the same level of thirst as the 35 boys up from Melbourne do, otherwise they would have had a better supply of back up stock on hand.

FUN, FRIVOLITY & SOCIALIZATION FOR EVERY ONE.

Peter Alphabet got as close to the group as he did his tee shot on the par 3, fifth hole.

Even the kids in the group found a beverage that got them up and excited. For Jaxon, Thomas and Greg Parsons, the drink of choice was a Candy in a can, otherwise labelled as a Fruit Tangle.

Todd Neilson thought he was getting fruit in a can when he asked to borrow one of Newells beers. He had heard a rumour that Captain Sensible beer cans come with all sorts of extra flavours including orange juice, lime juice, lemon juice, sugar syrup and even chilli flakes, however when he had a taste he quickly discovered that it is still just a yuppies version of camels p!$$ in a can and no matter what you put in it or do to it, at the end of the day it is still just a craft beer with a brand name to con the idiots and wanna be's in the world out of good money for a bad drink.

At the end of Saturday night there were only a few lost soldiers left on the tables, in years gone the tables have been littered with half finished drinks, my guess is the ones left behind were most likely to be from the Fitzpatrick family because Mark and Jaxon were double parked, with two drinks on the go from the moment they arrived at the motel.

One thing was for certain was, that there was never going to be any food scraps left behind, so long as Tom Kellythorn was in the room. Clearly when you are a boatperson there is a great unknown of where or when your next meal is going to come from. So for Tom the golf trip was an opportunity to cash in and load up a few extra calories for when there is a shortfall. Tom would magically appear and swoop down and take a slice from every plate of pizza as soon as it was delivered. In the end Colin took to calling him Tommy Livingstone Seagull because he was hovering over the pizza like a seagull around chips.

There was only one thing that Tom didn't swoop in to try and get his greasy fingers on, and that was the chip on the Supercoaches shoulder. From the moment he arrived Fil was complaining about anything and everything. His first message to the group chat was a complaint on the size of the rooms, a lack of swimming pool, no TAB, No pokies, the BBQ was too small, the sky was too blue and breakfast on Saturday morning was scheduled too early. Throughout the weekend we heard whinges and gripes about everything from the temperature of the water in the shower, the color of the orange juice, the size of his pizza, not to mention the incessant dribble about his handicap and the fact he has never won a prize in the raffle.

The Chip on Supercoach's Shoulder

Even after his name came out and he won a brand New Titliest driver, he still wasn't happy with the outcome. Evidently he was disappointed that it was last years model, and he would have preferred it to have a pink grip on the handle.

By the end of Saturday night Stu had had more than enough of Fil's whinning and complaints and challenged him to settle things man to man. The scene was set for a show down and Stu gave him the option to fight it out in what ever Supercoaches preferred battle method was. In the end he opted for an arm wrestle claiming that his shoulder is his greatest feature and said it was a $100,000 per year asset to his livelihood. You would have thought that after more than 30 years of trying, Mark would have realized by know that I have always beaten him at everything we have competed in, even hitting a driver left handed. Perhaps he forgot that when we were 20 years old, fit and active he was still not able to beat me in an arm wrestle however that was the challenge he had set.

The only thing that has changed over the years is we now have less hair than we did in those days and now I can even hold him back while drinking a beer.

As is to be expected, when Fil realized the $100,000 shoulder was not going to win the arm wrestle, the multi crowned leather wedge started to try to cheat. The bout only ended after he stood up and used both hands to push my arm over and then he tried to claim the win.

It was lucky for the two wrestlers that neither of them broke their arm, although to be honest even though the battle lasted over 2 minutes, it doesn't look like Stu even breaks into a sweat. Jaxon broke into a sweat after the second hole when he came to the realization that he might be destined to be wearing the Beer Wench's dress. The golf didn't start very well for Jax, he had scored 2x Newell's out of the first 2 holes and he had broken his 4 iron in the process. We are still waiting for the evidence as to how the club actually broke. Although he told the old man it broke when he wrapped it around a limb, it is just whether that was a tree limb or a knee limb we can not be certain of.

In the end Jaxon did enough to stay clear of last place, as did every other golfer who racked up a Newell (score of 10 or more) on the score card. Interestingly it was Tony MacIsaac who finished the day with the worst score, yet Tony never made double figures on a single hole.

Phil Plane had back-to-back Newells (score of 10 or more) on his last two holes for the day, clearly he got tired and was starting to suffer from alcohol withdrawal symptoms. Phil was in a key position pretty much leading the field after the first 9 holes, it was just unfortunate that on the back nine his game became unravelled and then it was the last two holes sent him tumbling down the leaderboard.

Undies is not a regular player, but when he does join us he is a regular feature on the Newell honorboard, he shared the claim to the biggest Newell (11) with Phil Plane and Thomas Cooper. One name that we do not get to see too often on this list is Wayne James. He is too tight to give up a ten, so when he reached double figures on the 11th hole there was plenty of players in his group that were totally surprised. It was Waynes 4th SLP career Newell and his first since 2018.

Stu Coops started the round very well, with three birdies in the first 8 holes it was looking like all of the pre tournament practice was going to pay off for him. Unfortunately golf courses are built with short one shot targets and that is where Stu always comes unstuck. A par 3 is always responsible for the demise of Stuarts round, on Saturday it was no different. He had a 7 on the par 3, 12th hole after birdying the eleventh and that was enough for his round to become unravelled. Stu had the most birdies for the day (3) had the December round been counted in the 2022 eclectic stroke figures it would have given him 17 birdies and an eagle for the season.

Birdies were certainly achievable at Shepparton. The first hole played as the easiest hole on the golf course and it was dominated by the SLP field. There were 8 pars and 3 birdies made by individual players on the first hole and during the teams event, of the 17 groups in the ambrose competition, 7 of them parred it and 4 others made birdies on the generous par 5.

Six of the birdies came from the par 5 holes and there was not one tweeter given up on the par 3 greens. Peter Alphabet made a very good birdie on the Par 5 sixteenth hole, however there was no way on earth he was going to make a birdie on the par 3 fifth hole after he took a divot which was nearly a club head width away from the tee. The five iron only just caught the edge of the ball and sent it disappearing into the scrub beside the tee box. If you do any research on playing golf, all of the instruction books and coaches say that a good golf swing hits the ball before it hits the turf. Clearly Peter does not have a good swing.

Every golf trip we trial a new event or add a new trophy to the mix. This years new competition was the battle of the long putters. We invited each monthly long putt winner to join a knock out putting competition. The 12 candidates started from the shortest longest putt and progressed outwards until there was only 1x man left standing. The bookies all got it wrong because no one thought for a minute that the guy who won the worst putting average for the season would also be holding the longest putt championship trophy aloft. Congratulations to Rick who eliminated the other competitors one putt at a time.

The pressure ball was also a recent innovation to the golf trip agenda, and Jamie Brunton was very happy it was. Jamie coached his team all of the way to the finish line, bringing back the pressure ball with a very impressive score of Nett 72. Evidently Todd saved all of his best holes for when he was driving the pressure ball. He only had 3 pars for the day and each one of them just happened to be when the blue ball was in his possession. This year was the most successful pressure ball event, as 5 teams were able to successfully navigate the entire course and return the ball to the club house. Chris Sfiligoj played his part for the team by playing risk free golf. Chris hit the ball very short distances so that his waning grandfather eyesight would still be able to see the ball. He took 3 shots in the bunker with the pressure ball to ensure it never disappeared out of sight.

Winners of 2022 Pressure Ball challenge

Jamie, Fitzy, Todd & Simon

18 holes completed 95 Nett 72

The Champion of Champions competition was played off between all of the players who won a monthly competition during the year; the champion of champions is the player who has the best score from all of the monthly winners who attended the golf trip. This competition was played off over 9 mystery holes on the Saturday competition with the player who scored the most stableford points taking out the title and adorned the coveted winner's jacket. As the winner of the December title Jayden had a last-minute entry into the big dance however not even his dominance on Saturday morning was going to be enough to prevent another great Aussie title getting handed off to a foreign citizen.

As was the case with the pressure ball challenge, Todd produced his best form on the important holes and the end result was 19 of his 34 stableford points were accrued on the designated champion of champion mystery holes.

2022 Champion of Champions

Winner of the blue Jacket and all of its powers for 2023.

19 stableford Points

During the official presentations, Stevie Powne handed over the coveted Blue jacket. He was a little disappointed to be handing it back especially after having the joy of conning the group during the year. Most people don't realize or remember that the jacket looked huge on Steve when he won it in 2021 but each round last year when he put it on it fitted snugly on his shoulders.

What we all failed to notice is Steve had purchased and embroidered an exact smurf sized replica of the jacket. What a genius thing to do.

It will be interesting to see how Todd goes managing his flock this year, Steve had a few mishaps where he hit the same person up for a drink twice and he even tapped new members who were not eligible to buy him a drink so the Jacket actually was costing him money each month.

If Todd uses the powers of the jacket correctly he will be able to claim 51 beers over the 12 rounds and his first target is going to be the top names on the SLP players choice, Tight Wad awards candidate nominations.

Todd will be able to reap the long-term benefits for his Champion of Champions status. Next year as the Champion of Champions the Canadian boat person will be able to ask any Sunday Leave Pass member to buy him a drink, it is however limited to him only receiving one drink per member for the year (beer or soft or bourbon if he pays the extra $2 price difference) for the entire season and it can only be claimed if he is wearing the Champion of Champion jacket at the time.

This of course is excluding new or any members who didn't play at least one game in season 2022 but it is also not limited to those who attended the golf trip. So, to put it simply if you played at least one round of golf this year then Todd has the power to hit you up for a free drink at some point next year. If he manages himself correctly, he should be looking at up to 51 free beers or soft drinks over the next 12 months. Now that is a prize worth aspiring for. The other condition is that Todd must be the person who consumes the drink, meaning he cannot use his power to buy beverages for anyone else and the drink must be opened and consumed at the time of purchase. They can not be used as takeaways to keep in the fridge to offer to guests at a dinner party.

The other covenant is if Todd has previously tapped you on the shoulder and he accidentally asks you for another free drink then he will be penalized, and he will be obligated to buy you a drink instead. Not that there will be much chance of it happening, especially since he has plans to create a scroll to keep on the jacket as a drinks tracker to manage the list of names.

Whenever there is a winner there has to be a loser. It is just the way of the world.

Back in 2018 we introduced a new Sunday Leave Pass board event. It was decided that it wasn't fair to give all of the prestige to the monthly winners, especially since we now make such a big thing out of the person who is crowned as the Beer Wench each month. Therefore, we introduced a competition in the same format as the Champion of champions however we called it the Beer Wench of Beer Wenches title where all of the last place finishers play off to be the worst of the worst. The competition was run over the same random holes as the champion of champions except the monthly title holders only used the scores from 8 of the holes and the golf trip Beer Wench takes his score from 9 holes.

Congratulations to Rick Turcinovic who was the winner of this year's Beer Wench of Wenches.

This year we once again trialed the 100% random group allocations for the Beer and Berrocca shield. It appears the consensus from the majority, (excluding the odd group) was that the handicapping system worked reasonably well, the handicap spread was more diverse however the final scores were still very close. Congratulations to the winning group. Tony MacIsaac and Gerard MacIsaac, they shot a score of 2 over par off the stick which was the best score for the day. Eleven of the other 17 teams in the event, all played to their handicap or better so clearly there is merit in the handicapping and randomized selection system.

Based on form I would have put my money on the TOM TOM group, however although navigated their way around the Shepparton layout without getting off course too often, they did run into a roadblock and get to the destination two shots short of the mark.

The results for the Saturday round were critical especially since the seasons championship points winner was to be determined based on the outcome, plus the determination of the champion of champions and beer wench of beer wenches, and FedEx points were all to be finalized based on the results on this game. The question was whether SOS, Stu, Mick or Gerard could chase down Tom Kellythorn or whether the Pommie boat person could retain his slim lead and claim his second points championship title. With only 1 point separating 1st and third place ranking it was going to be an epic playoff. All of the bookies were taking bets on Big Mick to run over the top of the others because he has a better mental aptitude. Although Stu Coops was looking good for the first few holes it was not too long before his mental demons kicked in and by the time that he got to the 9th hole he was calling the proshop to ask them to find him a medic or someone who knew the Heimlich maneuver. As Stu, SOS and Tom choked, Big Mick continued to step up his game, he had 41 on the back nine and knowing that none of his rivals were going to be close to picking up enough points to keep him out of the equation, Mick headed back to the room to crack open a celebratory can of Bourbon and write his victory speech. Given that neither Stu or SOS were able to finish ahead of Tom in the points distribution, despite finishing in 26th place for the day, Tom was still able to hold on to his second-place ranking. If either of the boys had of finished in 14th spot or better then they would have been able to claim the bridesmaid position.

Stu worked hard on his computer while no one else was watching, to try to rig the results in his favor, but no matter how or what he tried with the complex formulas in the spreadsheets there was no way he could make the numbers work to result in him being the overall winner. When the victors were announced during the awards presentations, the only change to the points leaderboard was that Mick Harper had jumped up to claim No# 1 position in the season points tally and Tom had been relegated back to the bridesmaid's position.

LONGEST DRIVE

There was plenty of controversy when it came to the longest drive competition this season. On Saturday when the power hitters arrived at the designated long drive hole tee, they were shocked to see the marker 375meters down the middle of the fairway. Not even Mick. Gerard, Cam Ross, Peter Alphabet, Dawso or Stu could come even close to the marker. When they walked down to see who had hit the massive drive they were perplexed by the fact that there was no name attached to such a wonderful golf shot. It was assumed that whoever had hit the drive had just decided not to damage the new long drive marker we were trialing, by writing on it. Everyone assumed it must have been Thomas Cooper because he is the only other member capable of squeezing a driver out that far. Once Thomas said that the drive wasn't his, no one could work out who was holding the longest drive. Evidently Thomas had crushed one of his longest drives ever and he was still 60 meters shy of the marker.

It wasn't until after the last group arrived back into the club house that it was confirmed that there was a distinct possibility that no one had manage to hit a drive as far as where the marker was located, but instead Colin had forgotten to put it out when he was playing the hole because none of his group managed to hit the fairway. So, when Colin realized his mistake, he just dumped the marker in the middle of the fairway where he thought someone might be able to hit the ball too. It didn't matter to Colin that he had put it only 100 meters short of the green on a 480-meter par 5 hole.

Needless to say, we were unable to award a prize on the Saturday afternoon and Colin was banned from being the marker distribution officer on Sunday. The longest drive hole on Sunday was not without its own controversy. Peter Alphabet was given a free choice of which hole he wanted to place the marker on, the only request was that he put it out when he finds a suitable hole and someone hits the fairway, so that way they wouldn't forget and it will be placed at a distance which is realistically achievable. In the end it was the 10th hole which was determined as the long drive hole. It was an elevated tee and it was playing down wind, so it was a practical selection from all accounts.

The only problem with using the 10th hole was that at about 240 meters down the fairway it has a slight dog leg and there is an area where the greens keeper cuts shape in the fairway to create a first cut even though it is technically still in the middle of the playline. I don't want to be the Supercoach and whinge, however it is hardly fair when you hit a drive straight down the middle, over the longest drive marker on the full and then, when your ball finishes 40 meters past it, smack bang in the center of the fairway where the short grass is meant to be and you are still not eligible to win the long drive title.

There was no clear definition of what was the fairway and what wasn't because even when we asked a group of members they were confused because looking from one direction it appeared as though the ball was outside the definition of the fairway, however by looking back at it from the other way it appeared to be clearly on the short-mown stuff and therefore an eligible candidate for the longest drive prize. It seems the new long drive marker may be cursed or evil or both. It certainly looks like it.

MEN Par 4

LADIES Par 5

The longest Par 4 and the toughest hole on the course.

Your drive must be long and down the right-hand side of the fairway to get a good look at the open fronted green for your long iron second shot.

One player who was not going to be winning the longest drive competition if the long drive was on the 5th hole, was Cam Ross. When Cam hits a ball it stays hit, but when he doesn't catch the ball out of the middle of the face, then anything goes. Cam added to the fine jar kitty when he hit his drive and it failed to make it past the ladies tees on the 5th hole, and then a couple of holes later he drove the green, the only problem was that the green was on an adjoining fairway and he had to take a drop away from it to avoid taking a divot out of the putting surface and what was worse he still had a three wood and a long iron to get the ball back onto the correct fairway.

Hopefully the new golf clubs he won in the raffle will get Cam hitting the ball straighter, because if he continues whacking errant golf balls all over the place like he did last weekend, then he might just dethrone Stu Coops and in 2023 he might find his name etched into the Bush Whacker trophy.

It seems the local legal practitioners have found a niche market on the country golf courses. Evidently they are making a very good living out of helping golfers like Cam and Stu Coops who are just one wild shot away from a legal liability claim.

Stu is still waiting for the 5 different damage claims to arrive on the mail after his crazy adventures at Cape Schanck. Not to mention the fact that he lived up to his name on Saturday, when colorbond Stu blocked a ball onto the roof of a house located alongside the fourth hole.

In all seriousness it is definitely worth taking into consideration the risks involved with launching a small urethane covered missile travelling at over 120 to 150mph into a wide-open public space. As an individual you can be held liable for any injury or damage you cause to a person or public or private property, Our green fees do not give you any insurance or waiver responsibility for your actions. The safest bet is to take out some form of personal insurance and protection and the best way to do that is to get a Golf Australia- Golf Link handicap. Some of us who don't belong to an official golf course and therefore don't have a club membership have paid between $150 and $250 per annum to get an official handicap which also includes public liability insurance coverage.

The last thing you ever want to do is get sued by someone because you accidentally hit them with a wild golf shot. Some of the older members will remember the day when Burnsie smacked his golf ball straight into the temple of a golf spectator and dropped him like a stone. For those that haven't heard the story, I have included it in this newsletter so you can get an understanding of what can happen while we are out golfing.

| Golf Balls don't kill people  I kill People IVANHOE 2009 | "Burnsie had an interesting first bash. He was playing to his usual form and his golf balls were flying around the course in any direction except where they were meant to go. After 9 holes young Jess who had come along to watch his buddy Matt MacIsaac had figured out a pattern had emerged and that the best place to be when Burnsie was hitting was the middle of the fairway because most of his shots were dribbling along the ground and going off into the bushes. On the 10th hole Jess had ducked into the bushes to siphon the snake, but then realized that Burnsie was about to hit. By being in the tree's when Burnsie was hitting meant that Jess was in the firing line so he ran towards the safety of the middle of the fairway. Suddenly, out of the blue "Smack" Burnsie hits one into the air and straight too. Jess dropped like a stone and didn't move for at least 5 seconds. Initially the guys weren't sure if the ball had hit him or if he had just fainted because he'd seen a good shot come off Burnsies club. However when he finally came to, it was obvious that he was in trouble (the ball hit him in the temple.) Jess' face quickly blew up like a balloon, he looked like the elephant man and he was screaming to high heavens. Amazingly the ball didn't kill him and to his credit Jess continued to watch the rest of the round before being rushed to hospital for X rays and a cat scan. Luckily he is OK but it was a close call. When it was evident that the ball had hit Jess in the head and he could be in real trouble the boys playing with him quickly responded and did the right thing. They called Burnsie's wife who is a nurse to find out what is the right thing to do. The funny thing about it though was that when they explained what had transpired and asked her advice on what she thinks he should do. Her answer "Play the ball where it lies and there is no penalty, it just counts as a normal shot" was a little strange even if it was true." |

On the weekend Andrew Clarke came within inches of killing both Westy and Douggo, Andrew skulled a full blooded 3 wood which bounced off a branch before crashing into the rear weather cover at the back of the golf cart, had it not hit the vinyl shade protector hanging from the roof, the ball would have careened into the golf cart and potentially cracked open one or both of their skulls. Admittedly there would be less damage caused by hitting either of those two in the head than it would be, the average person, however it was a scarily close call anyway.

Phil Plane knocked his ball through the back of the 12th hole and nearly took out the opposition when his golf ball landed directly into the Tom Toms golf cart, The ball bounced in the floor well and then hit the roof, so it was lucky neither Big Tom or Little Tom were in the cart at the time. Evidently, the Sunday Leave Pass group are not big fans of either of the Toms, because there was a common pattern of trying to hit them with a golf ball. Clearly their success within the club and their monopoly on the trophy and prizes has ruffled a few feathers. Even Shane Cumming who is usually a friendly fella and a peace maker was taking pot shots at them. Ciders golf ball on the par 4, eleventh hole came to rest directly beneath their golf cart while the were sitting in it. Cam Ross also had Big Tom diving for cover when he launched an errant drive in the direction of the next playing group.

Golf is a dangerous sport, Barry Hemsley finished his round on Wednesday morning at Mansfield sporting a black eye.

Although Barry claims the discoloration and swelling of his eye was from a recent surgery to remove some skin cancers, the rumor is he might have got it when he tried to push his way in front of some of the lady members on comp day when he got to the tenth tee.

Never mess with a lady golfer especially when you are a visitor on her course playing in the middle of their competition field.

Golf can be dangerous even to the local wildlife. Colorbond Stu lived up to his reputation when he landed in the middle of the house of an unsuspecting bird family. How Thomas was even able to find the ball in the first instance is anyones guess, but the fact that Stu played the ball as it lies, rather than take an unplayable penalty is testimony to how stubborn Stu must be.

He had to take the longest club in his bag to reach the limb the nest was resting in and even then he had to time the back swing to wait for times when the branch dropped down lower as it blew up and down in the wind. Incredibly Stu was able to progress the ball forward and avoided the extra penalty stroke. The fact that he destroyed the home of an innocent bird family was inconsequential to Stu.

Congratulations and thanks to Rick and his helpers who did a fantastic job as fine master this year, he managed to collect more money in the kitty than we were able to drink on Saturday night. Even when Greg and the kids were all drinking Fruit Tangles at $12 per can, we could not empty the ledger. We will use some of the excess fine money to buy drinks and food at our BBQ's in 2023. Hopefully Rick will continue as the fine master in 2023 because no one does it better than him.

The challenge for Rick next year is to shake the coins out of the pockets of those members whose names featured prominently in the voting for the Tight Wad award this year.

While we are handing out compliments, I would like to also give a special thanks to the Good Brother, (Chris Sfiligoj) who acquired and brought up all of the meat and sides for the BBQ on Saturday afternoon. All of the feedback coming back was that the food was sensational and it was the best BBQ we have had from 18 previous golf trips, so full credit to Chris for bringing the food. Well done to Colin, Peter and Rick for slaving away over the hot plate to have it all prepared for us when we finished the golf. Also credit to Phil Plane and Col Ewart who supplied the platters of food chips, dips, nuts and cheese and bickies that you all enjoyed on Sunday afternoon.

Barry Hemsley volunteered to act as the official photographer and the crux of the blurb has been built around his images. On the 2nd page down from this one there is a collection of Barry's photos and a hidden easter egg. If anyone can identify the issue with this page, then they can get a $5 discount off their January round green fees or else they can have a free beer or soft drink after the game. All you need to do to win the prize is to email the correct answer to studaydream@gmail.com.

Taking photos, cooking food, updating websites, printing the fixtures, all of these little extra's are often taken for granted, however the reality is that it is the spirit of the club that these members repeatedly chip in to help and do it over and over again, out of the goodness of their heart and their community spirit, so please make sure you all acknowledge there gestures and maybe one day when you get the chance to do so, just tap them on the shoulder and say thanks and maybe even offer to buy them a drink from the bar.

There is a lot of work that goes into getting our members on the golf course each month, it doesn't just magically happen. Newell is continually tinkering away with the website and keeping all of the information up to date and current. Hours and hours go into the back of house operations of Sunday Leave Pass and people like Colin, Rick, Phil, Stu and Newell invest their own hard earned to provide those little extra's to make our members golfing experience all the more enjoyable. There is a lot more to Sunday Leave Pass than just golf, it is a social club first and chasing the white ball around the fairways is the destination and excuse to be part of it.

The Social club runs as a neutral organization and all of the money we raise each year is spent on prizes and we start each year with basically a zero $$$$ bank balance. As was to be expected the fine jar kitty was almost drunken dry in the early hours of Sunday morning although there was a couple of hundred dollars which will be filed away to be used for BBQ's and stock purchases at the start of the new season. All of the proceeds of the social club activities which includes green fees, and beverage & merchandise sales were invested in the form of prizes for the end of year trip and the raffle draw. In total we had more than $2000 worth of prizes to give away. The spoils were spread over many of our members.

The raffle is conducted by issuing every player a ticket for each round of golf that they play over the course of the year. If a player wears the Sunday Leave Pass Club shirt to the round, they are given a second raffle ticket. We also run an 18x hole skins competition where every hole is worth one raffle ticket and a player wins raffle tickets for scoring a better stableford score than the rest of the field. In the skins competition whenever 2 or more players have the best score on a hole the raffle tickets carry over and jackpot until a unique hole-winner is achieved. Some players had some significant Jackpots through the year where they won 6 or more skins at the one time. This dramatically increases the number of raffle tickets a player has but at the end of the day the raffle all comes down to chance.

As a matter of fairness, a player is only entitled to take home one prize no matter how many times their name is drawn in the raffle. A player is entitled to upgrade to a better prize if their name comes out again and then the lesser prize is redrawn. In order to qualify for the Major Prizes a player must have played at least 6 rounds with the club or be in attendance at the Golf Trip to claim the prize. Congratulations to all of the winners.

The Official World Golf Ranking formula is based on a rolling 20-month (two-year) period, with players earning points toward their ranking based on their finish in each sanctioned tournament played.

The points are distributed based on a calculated field strength. That comes from two factors: the world ranking of the individual players in the field. Not all players count the same. For example, the No. 1 player in the world ranking adds more points toward strength of field than No. 20. Under the Official World Golf Ranking formula, only players in the top 50 in the world can count toward a field's strength rating.

Once the field strength is calculated, we then know the total world ranking points that can be distributed for an event. The higher the strength of field, the more points the winner gets and the higher the number of players who get world ranking points based on their finish. In the Official World Golf Ranking, it can range from 2 points for the winner and one other player getting points to 100 points for the winner of a major and all players making the cut getting points.

The points earned retain their full value for 6 months, then they depreciate over the next 14 weeks in equal installments until they come off entirely. Then the ranking itself is determined based on the average number of points a player earns per tournament in that rolling two-year span. There is also something called the minimum divisor, which is a minimum number of tournaments a player is expected to compete in the span. It's a minimum of 11 rounds from the most recent 20 for a player to hold an Official SLP Club World Golf Ranking. This means players need to play regularly and otherwise they are penalized for not playing as often as they should, and it prevents players from protecting points earned.
