

SUNDAY LEAVE PASS 2010

Before we get into the round of golf that wasn't, here's a little bit of dirty housekeeping. Please remember that if you are a confirmed attendee for a round of golf and you don't show up you are still charged for the round, just as the club is. On Sunday we had 2 guys not turn up and consequently we are still responsible for their green fees. What was worse was that neither of the guys bothered to call to say there were not coming and because we had an extra player attend on the day we actually ended up paying for an extra player when we could have used him to replace one of the no-shows and not been as far out of pocket as what we were.

PLEASE CALL Stuart on 0411645222 or any of the guys who you know from the club if you are running late or if something happens and your circumstance change. If you are not coming and we know in advance we have time to re-arrange groups, try to recoup some of the expenses or at least be aware of what is happening rather than have to sit at the tee waiting for you to arrive.

The fine jar continues to accumulate, at the rate things are going we will not only be able to buy drinks and pay for the BBQ on the golf trip but we might be able to just about subsidize the cost of the golf carts as well.

FINE JAR 2010

Yarrambat Golf Course Results

March

This months results can be viewed on http://sundayleavepass.com/

After some quite spectacular golf last month at Warburton, the standard slipped a tad, that is for almost everyone except Mick Harper who slapped his way around the course like he was a nymphomaniac in an ARL Rugby team's locker room. Mick played the front to nine to even Par shooting a brilliant 36. A slight lapse in concentration saw him drop 5 shots on the back nine, however a score of 77 was more than sufficient to earn him 15 championship points and secure him another monthly title.

Amazingly despite yet another powerful display of ball bursting hitting Mick was unable to post his name on the longest drive marker, despite being 130 meters further down the fairway than the ultimate winner, Micks ball came to rest in the rough so he had to hand the title of longest drive status to Paul Blizzard who happily accepted the prize with honour.

One player who failed to be in contention for the longest drive was Chris Sfiligoj, who had to surrender his 1 wood to the local constabulary before arriving at the course. A penalty for a misdemeanour or several misdemeanours has cost him his rite to drive for a few months. Chris persisted with a 3 wood but it was to no avail and he was still unable to get to where he needed to be off the tee. Perhaps when he received notification advising him “that he could not drive for 3x months”, that was not an order to stop, but merely an observation! Since for the past few rounds Chris has struggled to hit the ball successfully from the tee and those playing with him have openly stated “that he can not drive.”

Even still the worst of Chris' attempts were by far, more superior to Lukey D's first stroke which literally fell of the tee. Despite the biggest backswing ever seen and a supercharged recoil through the ball Lukey barely made contact with his club and it was only gravity and the hard dry fairways that enabled the ball to gather enough momentum to pass the squatters tees by a matter of inches.

It was anything but plain sailing for most of the guys, a strong breeze, undulating well bunkered greens, some strategically placed water hazards accompanied with an unforgiving rough resulted in some very large scores. Last years Yarrambat victor at was not only dethroned but humiliated at the same time. Poor Runar who never missed an opportunity to announce to all within earshot how Yarrambat was is favourite track and how he had won last year at the course, came horribly unstuck. Unfortunately he failed to live up to his own high expectations. The ever vibrant Runar was humbled almost to the point of depression when he posted the day's worst score which included a hat-trick when he hit three balls in succession into the same dam on the 12th hole, giving him a disastrous 15. It should be said that even in such times of despair he still managed to bring a smile to the faces of his playing partners who could barely contain themselves from exploding into bouts of laughter and even Runar could see the lighter side of his misfortunes.

The only one who was not laughing was Jamie who became more and more agitated as Runar racked up his abundance of stokes. Having set himself a very tight time schedule and having very little room left to complete his round at the golf course, and still have enough time to get back to the city to see the first bounce at Ethihad stadium to watch his beloved Magpies play. Jamie had not budgeted on Runar having almost enough shots to have played the course twice and so with every shank, three putt, airs-wing and lost ball Jamie was seen nervously gazing down at his watch. At one stage he offered to play a few shots for Runar just to try and help to get things moving along, so it was little wonder that to compensate for the slow play Jamie played a blistering round he reduced the number of shots he had to play to a minimum, and hit a sensational 97 and finished in 2nd place.

To their credit the Magpies did the right thing and had a win for him, making a great finish for a day for which had started so badly. Soon after arriving at Yarrambat as he unloaded his clubs from the boot of his car Brunto managed to drop the sunglasses off his head three times. On the third occasion, just as he was in the middle of explaining how he never buys expensive sunglasses because he has a lot of trouble looking after them, perfectly on cue the sunnies fell from his hat and smashed into the bitumen dislodging the lens out of the frame. Perhaps it was a good omen since the one eyed Magpie supporter was rewarded on Sunday afternoon with a momentous victory by the magpies.

Stu Coops came close to dislodging more than his glasses; he nearly decapitated himself on the third hole. Full of confidence after a par, par start to the round Stu tried to conjure up a miracle shot well beyond his inferior capabilities. While nestled amongst the bushes, rather than play the sensible safety shot, Stu attempted to attack the green and tried to cut a narrow path through the trees. As is well documented Stu is not renowned for his accuracy and on this occasion it was no different. He pulled his chip directly into the middle of a big old gum tree, the ball rebounded straight back at his skull like an arrow from a bow. With little time to react he duck dived for cover landing spreadeagled flat on his back, beneath a barrage of dust and foliage. Hatless and shaken he picked himself up and dusted himself off, to the chorus of hysterical applause and cheers from the onlookers who thought his near death experience was a great form of amusement.

It was nice to see Ron Parsons have a utopian like day on the hallow fairways at Yarrambat. While Stu was looking up to the heavens for help, it seemed that the gods above were looking down to offer assistance but were focussed directly and whole heartedly on Ron. He couldn't do a thing wrong, his ball would ricochet off a tree back into the middle of the fairway, his ball actually rolled through a bunker bounced off the rake and finished up on the green, a wayward shot on the par 3, 8th hole was destined to land in the dam, but incredibly rebounded off a turtles back and came to rest just off the fringe of the putting surface. On the ninth hole heavenly intervention came to a crescendo when a Putt of Ron's ran past the hole and stopped just millimeters from the side of the cup. The ball sat on the lip for about 10 seconds, then just as he was about to walk up to tap it in, the wind changed direction, the barametric pressure dropped by 300 hectopascals, a fly landed on his ball and a grass hopper took a bite out of the blade of grass that was holding the ball from dropping in. This sequence of simultaneous universal phenomenon's culminated in a wobble, and a bobble and you guessed it Ron's ball fell gently backward into the hole. It was the perfect Tiger Woods moment and capped off a brilliant day for Ron, which provided him with a birdie, 2x Pars, nearest to pin on the toughest Par 3 on the golf course and should we even bother mentioning the 9 skins he won for his efforts as well.

Perhaps the only blemish on Ron's day was an incident which occurred while several groups waited on the 16th hole. The 16th hole is a magnificent elevated Par 3 surrounded by a vast expanse of bushland and water holes. Naturally it is the ideal meeting zone for the assemblage of the hundreds of Kangaroos that inhabit the golf course and surrounding farms. As several groups congregated on the tee Lukey Dumbrell made the comment "hey Runar there is a great big kangaroo over there and he is calling your name. Why don't you go over and say Hi to him I think he likes you". No less than three seconds later the 11x guys waiting on the tee turned around with looks of shock and bewilderment as they watched Ron

Parsons walking in the direction of the kangaroos unbuckling his belt and unbuttoning his trousers and headed for the big roo with a determined look and his pants around his ankles. He still claims he was going into the bushes to relieve himself, but from where we all stood, the timing of his actions and even his son can bare witness, it certainly looked as though “Ron was hoping to play wombats (eats, shoots, roots and leaves) with his marsupial friends.”

Congratulations to Mick Harper who played yet another brilliant round his victory with a Nett 66 has moved him into 2nd place on the Championship leader board although it has cost him another 1.8 shots off his handicap. Brunto finished in second spot and has moved into outright leader in the point's championship tally. Let's hope he does not suffer from the same fate as the magpies and we can only hope he doesn't get the Collywobbles at the pointy end of the season. Dale also shot an even Nett Par 72 losing to Jamie on a count-back on the back nine scores. Phil Plane finished his day in fine style and secured a 4th place finish with his round of 107. Steve Powne, Tony Grasso and Paul Blizzard all had the same Nett score so their positions were allocated according to the stableford scores achieved on the back nine using the count-back system.

Handicaps

As to be expected Mike Harpers handicap has continued its rapid decline, his round of Nett 66 resulted in another 1.8 strokes being axed from the still very generous he has been given. Jamie Brunton lost 0.1 strokes for his round of 96 and only a few guys scored within the buffer zone of the course CCR. With Devils Bend just around the corner the rest of us will gladly accept another 0.1 shots to help out next time at a course which has repeatedly proven a true test of character.
