By now everyone should have received an invitation to the Footy Tipping Competition and the take up thus far has been very low. Footy season started this week and we are still hoping to get as many members involved in the tipping competition as possible. To register all you need to do is log into the website www.footytips.com.au and sign up if you haven't played before otherwise reactivate your account for 2011 and then join the competition.

Sundayleavepass the password is eaglesnest

Click on the link to go to the website

Cost is less than a dollar a week ($15 for the season) and it's a way of having a bit of fun and make the social club social.

It's still not too late to get involved, if you joined before round 2 you would not be far behind Geoff Cooper who only picked 3 winners for the round.

WEEK 2

Yarrambat Golf Course Results

March

At the conclusion of last weeks round, I was thinking that the only thing I could hope for was a storm front, cold climate and icy conditions. Well the truth is I got all of those things, but it was localized only to a specific house in Forest Hill. You see after leaving home for a day out with the boys around lunch time Saturday for the Super coaches Bucks Party, somewhere between drink 25 and drink 30, I decided it would be a great idea to front up to golf on Sunday Morning.

Liquid logic told me that playing golf was the best way to 1) work off the hangover, 2) make up for the abysmal attendance numbers and 3) help to avoid getting in trouble for bringing the party back home and then keeping, "she who must be obeyed" awake until the roosters were rising. Unfortunately my optimistic decision was not as well received as the fermented brain cells had me thinking it was going to be, so despite the absolutely perfect conditions for golf and the 6 hours of frivolity I once again returned home to a very cold, bitter and dangerous environment. The only consolation was that despite the of the hangover I managed to play better golf and improve on my score from the week before, not that it counted for anything in the points or place allocation.

Dale managed to keep his nose out in front of the pack, a few guys put up a pretty good chase, but even by knowing a Nett 65 was the score to beat they were still unable to replicate the feat. Tony Grasso Junior came the closest. He played some very good golf, finishing with a Nett 70 and the highlights of his round included hitting 3/4 of the Par 3 greens in regulation. Junior won 2x of the nearest to pin prizes and only just missed out on the 3rd by a foot or so but unfortunately he let himself down with the flat stick and was unable to convert any of his scoring opportunities. Junior had 2x 4 putts and also 3x putted a fist full of other greens and therefore he was unable to get the illusive par and consequently fell short of the leaders score.

John Mea, alias (slinky) also played a career best round. He played some great golf, inspired mainly by some other good performances by his playing partners Peter Hutson and Rick Turcinovic. Slinky was on track to sub par round when a kink ruined his game on the home stretch. John dropped four balls in a row into the lake in the middle of the 18th fairway and finished the hole with a devastating eleven which sent him tumbling 10 positions down the point's ladder.

Mick Harper, never really got his game going, the clubs low marker struggled to tame the Yarrambat layout. Mick showed glimmers of his usual flare with some power hitting, but his approach to the greens and putting cost him dearly. So much so that he finished in 17th position and had to kick into the fine jar for the first time ever when he had a 4x putt green and then another $2-00 for a shank. It is believed that part of Micks demise may have been related to passive inebriation caused by standing too close to the alcohol fumes seeping out of the pores of Stu Coops' system.

Nothing could have taken the smile off the face of Brendan Seagrave, alias (not as grumpy as usual.) Sporting the newest addition to his golf bag a $450 Taylor Made R11 driver, Brendan hit the ball further and straighter than he has in years. The new driver nearly paid for itself on its maiden tournament when a brilliant drive and approach to the green set Brendan up for a very makeable eagle opportunity. Luckily for the Eagles Nest he missed the Putt, but then he wasn't even able to convert the 2 foot birdie attempt either.

Brendan's new driver did reward him with a prize ball for the longest drive, although it was by default since Stu Coops hit his ball some 30 to 40 meters further on the fly; however Stu was ineligible for the prize since he played the week before. The R11 driver might become a popular addition to the golf bags of many of our members, Brendan has already talked Peter Hutson into investing in one, and Steve Powne has put one on the Christmas wish list after finding he could get 10% extra distance and remarkable accuracy when he gave Brendan's club a try.

As a newcomer to the game of golf, Andrew Pugh found the going a bit tough. Having played elite level hockey for his entire life he had no trouble with the hand-eye coordination for hitting the ball, but the finesse required on the greens left him a little rattled. Andrew managed to 5x putt one of the greens, giving him the unpleasant task of marking his scorecard with a 6 for 5 on a Par 3 hole. Andrew also got a bit confused about seeing so many balls on the course at the same time, and was caught out for playing the wrong ball. Obviously on the hockey field there is only one ball so you hit the first ball that you come across and that was the theory that Andrew took to when he was playing golf.

After two weeks of 9 players per round the final scores were as follows:

Phil Plane is also relishing in the new handicapping system and his golf has improved dramatically and he now holds outright 2nd place on the points tally.
