Yerring Meadows Golf Course Results

January

Welcome to Sunday Leave Pass 2016. If the scores at Yerring Meadows are anything to go by it is going to be very long season. This was our first venture out to Yerring Meadows and from all accounts lived up to its reputation as being a tough course. At par 73 there were only three players of 30 who hit off the first tee that were good enough to play to their handicap or better.

Newell Richards armed with his new Titliest API's and 7 weeks of solid practice over the summer holidays shot 72. The only problems was, that that was actually his score on the front nine. His partner was quick to let him know that even if he had a hole in one on each of the holes on the back nine Newell would still finish the day 8 over par. Obviously Newell failed in his quest by nine aces however he did recover just enough to avoid the beer wench title which was won by Brendan MacIsaac who racked up 151 strokes in his attempt to thoroughly test the arm and shoulder injury which kept off the fairways for the majority of 2015.

Glenn Douglas was the best player and has opened his account in 2016 as he did last year with the January title. Glen hit a score of 86, Nett 70 to claim the 15 championship points. Leigh MacIsaac continues to show his natural flare for the game. Leigh was one of the few players skilled enough to tame the Yerring Meadows layout and hit a sub 90 round. Leigh finished in 2nd position with Nett 71 and has thrown down the challenge to the entire field that he will be the man to beat this year. Leigh also won a nearest to pin on the 7th hole and was a straight drive away from winning the longest drive hole too.

Mick Harper (2015 Least Improved player) has put up a good case especially if he can continue current form to be voted the Most Improved player this season. Mick rattled home 7 pars and a birdie to shoot the day's lowest round of 83.

Mick started the day with a birdie on the first hole however he had to mark his card with a 7. Mick hit his third stroke into the par 5 first hole with a cracking 3 wood which de-legged a duck. Fortunately for the duck it lived to see another day, but there is a good chance it will spend the rest of its life swimming around in circles in one of the 27 strategically placed lakes at Yerring Meadows.

Cliff Rowe had his golf buggy going around in circles. Obviously you don't need a license to drive a remote control buggy. Cliff was able to drive his ball straight down the middle of the fairway but when it came to his golf buggy he was all over the place. Cliff ran over sign posts, smashed into other people's golf carts and at one stage he nearly ran over Big Mick as he stood on the tee. After his fifth collision for the morning, when asked if the remote control was faulty, Cliff replied simply "Nah the device is fine you just have to remember to press the right buttons."

RickTurcinovic also had his own buggy issues. Rick was left to chase a golf cart down the fairway after the group in front started to drive away with his ball embedded in the back shelf.

Evidently Rick over cooked an approach shot to the green and his ball somehow finished up landing in the back of a golf cart. Rick tried to pay the guys to drive his ball closer to the hole and he probably would have got away with had the course marshal not come around the corner at the critical time and caught the group driving their buggies too close to the green.

Putting was the challenge of the day, with large undulating greens to contend with the three putt monkey vest was regularly doing the rounds. The fun part of the Three Putt monkey game is that it doesn't matter how many times you wear the vest the only thing that counts is who is wearing the vest at the end of the round when the last putt has been hit on the 18th hole.

To clarify the rules of the Three Putt Monkey game for the umpteenth time, please read the information below.

The player who is furthest from the hole putts first, if they miss the first putt then they have the option of putting out or marking their ball. If they choose to putt out and end up with a three putt then they will only wear the vest until another person has a three putt. It is always the last person to have a three putt or worse that gets the vest. For example if a person has a 5 putt on the green and then the next person has a 3 putt, then it is still the last person to putt out (the 3 putter) who wears the vest.

Cliff Rowe had the obligation to putt on the vest on three separate occasions only to have the very next person make a 3 putt and take the vest off of him again. So he is yet to have to put it over his shoulders. On the 16th Hole, Ian Mutimar teed off wearing the three putt monkey vest, then Cliff Rowe 3 putted, then Mick Harper three putted followed by Stu Coops who also had 3 strokes with the bent stick. So the final outcome was that the vest did the rounds of every player on the same green and as Stu Coops was the last to putt out he walked off with the vest and carried it all of the way home.

Newell Richards had 47 putts for the day including 4x 3putts, 3x 4 putts and a 5putt so you would expect him to be wearing the yellow vest at the end of the round. Not So! Poor Jamie Brunton who had only his 2nd blemish which was a 4 putt on the 17th hole was thrown the monkey vest on what was almost a perfect consistent putting round and therefore he was devastated when Newell holed a 10 footer on the last hole to keep Jamie dressed in yellow.

Shanno (alias Cider) holed out for none putt with a 40 foot gobbler from the fringe on the 12th hole.

A special thanks to the Supercoach and who ensured that the fine jar got a boost with their drives on the first hole. The Supercoach skyed his drive and his ball travelled further up than it did forward, therefore failing to reach the ladies markers. The Supercoach also failed to hit his ball past the squatter's tees when he hit a shank that actually ended up in the bushes beside the tee he was playing from. Witnesses are still trying to work out how he actually managed to hit the ball to where he did, and true to form the Supercoach offered to teach them how to do it, but as to be expected it would come at a price.

Yerring Meadows was Col Ewarts suggestion, but after the first hole he was already starting to regret his decision. As Col turned into his pivot for the first drive for the day there was a loud explosive bout of flatulent noise come from Glenn Douglas' direction. The perfect timing of the fart was too much for Col to deal with and he just about missed his ball altogether on the downward stroke. Cols ball dribbled into the bushes at the front of the tee and the death stare towards the laughing gallery was filled with so much hatred and brown that he could have filled the Werribee water-farm with product for a year.

Col got to return the favor when he played the same noise gag on Stu Coops on the 4th hole. After nearly hitting Colin with a snap hooking drive, Stu was standing over his ball as he attempted to thread his ball back through the bushes to return his ball to somewhere near the correct fairway. As Stu turned into his pivot there was a loud explosive bout of flatulent noise which come from Colin's direction. The perfect timing of the fart was too much for Stu to deal with and he then skinned his ball into a tree trunk in front of him and the ball ricocheted into the lake for the first of 8 lost balls for the day including a series of 4 balls in four holes.

Brendan MacIsaac tried to lose his ball in the lake on the 7th hole, but the ball stopped on the muddy bank just before the water. The fact that the ball was in the hazard but not in the water gave Brendan the opportunity to play a Houdini style escape out of the hazard to avoid penalty.

Brendan successfully extricated his ball out of the mud but then he left it perfectly obvious where his next few shots went as he tramped muddy footprints all over the green.

GOLF RULE FACT

If your ball is in a water hazard (yellow/ Red stakes and/or lines) you may play the ball as it lies or, under penalty of one stroke:

- play a ball from where your last shot was played, or
- drop a ball any distance behind the water hazard keeping a straight line between the hole, the point where the ball last crossed the margin of the water hazard and the spot on which the ball is dropped.

If your ball is in a lateral water hazard (red stakes and/or lines), in addition to the options for a ball in a water hazard (see above), under penalty of one stroke, you may drop within two club-lengths of, and not nearer the hole than:

- the point where the ball last crossed the margin of the hazard, or
- a point on the opposite side of the hazard equidistant to the hole from the point where the ball last crossed the margin.

Congratulations to Glenn Douglas who has had the perfect start to the 2016 season. Let's just hope his form continues because after a win in January at Waterford Valley last season Douggo's golf deteriorated very quickly.

The strokes that he slashed off those guys were re-allocated to those players who are on a downward spiral, the lucky recipients were Andrew, Ben, Big Ball Breasley, Rick, SOS, Stu Coops and Tony Mac.

Evergreen Winery Tours

Yarra Ranges Wine Regions

Sponsored by

For those who were not aware of the "hole in one prize", any player who scores a hole in one or an Albatross during a Sunday Leave Pass event will win a complimentary Chauffer Driven Winery Tour for 2x people through the Yarra Valley, courtesy of Evergreen Winery Tours. So start aiming at the hole we want to give it away this year there was a few close calls over the years but we are still yet to achieve the perfect shot despite more than 12000 attempts since 2004.

(In 1999, Golf Digest reported, "One insurance company puts a PGA Tour pro's chances at 1 in 3,756 and an amateur's at 1 in 12,750.")
The Golf Digest study even breaking the odds down by quality of play:

- Professional Tour player making an ace: 3,000 to 1
- Low-handicapper making an ace: 5,000 to 1
- Average player making an ace: 12,000 to 1

Based on this information we are due any time so make sure you turn up to play as it may just be you that claims the ultimate prize.
